Move ahead with confidence.

Great software. Real Expertise.

We know what it takes to maximise performance and operational efficiency. Because while our Windows®, Linux, browser-based, and mobile solutions are unique, it's our decades of local expertise that make all the difference.

And now with the backing of parent company, Constellation Software, our clients will reap even more benefits from additional products and services, and the expertise of a truly worldwide organization with significant DMS experience.

We've never been sellers of software; we've always designed, built, installed, and supported our own. That's why more businesses use our solutions today than ever before. And with cyber threats growing each day, it's why our clients take particular comfort from our in-house security expertise.

Built on world's best practices, our systems empower you with the latest technologies, and are fully integrated with factory & third-party systems.
